NEW ORLEANS IS MUCH STIRRED UP

The Sewer System, It Is Said, May Collapse.

The City Engineer and His Corps Are Held to Be Responsible For Conditions.

A BIG SCANDAL IS NOW ON.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 24.—Extraordinary charges to the effect that, owing to the blunders of Engineer George G. Earl, and the engineering corps of the sewerage and water board, the collapse of the sewerage system is probable, even before an attempt has been made to operate it, have been laid before Mayor Behrman, and have led to an order by Mayor Behrman suspending repair work which is now being done and which, it is charged, will have the effect of removing the physical evidence to prove the truth of the statements. The matter is one of the most serious that has been brought to the attention of the public of New Orleans since the taxpayers were called upon to vote on the proposition whether they would vote to tax themselves millions in order to establish a modern system of water, sewerage and drainage.

The charges were filed by T. J. Shea, a contractor, through his counsel, Percy Benedict. It is charged by Shea that as the result of the failure to lay any foundation, some of the most important sewerage work has collapsed, that the engineers were warned that precisely this result would occur unless their plans were changed, and that any failure now to apply a complete remedy means an inevitable great disaster when the time comes for the operation of the system.

The charges are so sensational and so serious that Mayor Behrman called a special meeting of the sewerage and water board to take steps to protect the city.

WILL BE SHIPPED AWAY.

Two Brothers Arrive After Remains of John Allen.

The remains of John Allen, the caulker who was killed at First and Jefferson streets while asleep on the trestle Sunday, will be taken to Point Pleasant, W. Va., tonight by two brothers of the deceased who arrived today.

GOING SLOWLY.

Miss Roosevelt's Train Not Making Record Breaking Speed.

Ogden, Utah, Oct. 24.—Comment was caused here today when it was announced at the Southern Pacific railway offices that the Harriman special train bearing Miss Alice Roosevelt will not travel at the record-breaking speed provided in the original schedule. The train will run about 39 miles an hour as fast as Omaha. It arrived here four hours and a quarter behind the schedule time.

RAILWAY STRIKE.

Is Becoming More Serious Than Ever in Russia.

Akatorisk, Russia, Oct. 24.—The situation as a result of the railway strike is serious. The railway lines as well as telegraph connections are being damaged by strikers, and troops are on guard at all stations.

The strike of artisans and all commercial employes is expected tomorrow.

Police Captain Joe Wood is improving daily at the city hospital and will be able to be out in a few days if complications do not set in.

SEVERAL BURGLARS TERRORIZE A TOWN

Blew Safe of Ridgeville Bank and Got $6,000.

Shot at Every Citizen in Sight and Tore Down All the Electric Lights.

THREE PEOPLE ARE WOUNDED.

Ridgeville, Ind., Oct. 24.—Seven burglars early this morning blew open the safe of the Bank of Ridgeville and secured six thousand dollars.

After a running battle with a posse of citizens, in which the cashier of the bank and two robbers were wounded, the safe blowers escaped. For more than an hour the town was practically at the mercy of the robbers who openly walked the streets shooting at everything in sight.

All the electric lights were torn down, and the citizens attempted to surround the burglars without avail.

FORGIVES NIECE.

Andrew Carnegie Buys Her and Her Husband a Farm.

New York, Oct. 24.—Substantial proof that Andrew Carnegie has forgiven his niece, Miss Nancy Carnegie, for marrying James Hever, a coachman, came today with the announcement that the iron master has purchased for the young couple the Silas Albertson farm of eighty acres at Roslyn, L. I.

The birth of a girl paved the way to Andrew Carnegie's forgiveness. When he learned of the event he is reported to have said he would buy a stock farm for his niece, on which the former coachman could have a fair chance of prospering with his bride. The newly purchased farm is in a locality where are the home of many notable society folk. The selection of the site is taken to mean that Mrs. Hever may make an effort to return to the social circles from which her marriage excluded her.

LITTLE DOING.

The Street Car Strike is in Statu Quo.

A rumor circulated yesterday and today that there was a probability that the street car strike would be settled today, seems to have been without foundation. The street car management states that it knows nothing about any negotiations, looking towards that end, and has heard of none on the other side.

Many of the reports circulated at present have very little truth to back them up. It was reported today that some one had stretched a wire across a track and caused a car to be damaged by fire. The company's report is that a wire fell near the park and formed a short circuit, slightly damaging a car.

Some one placed stones and other obstructions in the guard track at Fountain avenue last night and derailed a car, but this is about the extent of the trouble.

BOILER EXPLOSION.

Small Boy Killed and Several Men Injured.

Jonesboro, Ark., Oct. 24.—The boiler of a portable engine, which was being used to cut cordwood on L. Saches' farm, four miles west of the city, exploded, killing a 15-year-old boy named Slaven, tearing the right arm from Park Ostrander, the engineer, and badly scalding two others, one of them the father of the boy who was killed.

The boy and his father, who live some distance beyond where the accident occurred, were driving to town, when, the father says, the boy asked him to stop that he might watch the machinery run. They were in a wagon, and had not stopped an instant when the explosion occurred. The boy was instantly killed and the man badly scalded in the breast.

CRY OF "COSSACKS"

Causes a Panic in Which Many Russians Are Hurt.

Rhakov, Oct. 24.—While a meeting of several thousand citizens, students, and workmen was in progress last night, a cry of "Cossacks" are coming," was suddenly raised.

A panic followed and many persons were injured. Subsequently a mob came in contact with a detachment of cavalry and were fired upon. Bombs were hurled among the cavalrymen. Both sides suffered severely and many wounded were left on the ground when the crowd dispersed.

Mayfield, Ky., Oct. 24.—The body of Frank Young was brought here from Sharon, Tenn., where he died. He and his brother, Bob Young, had been to the Jackson fair and were returning home Thursday night and when within about 200 yards of the crossing at Milan, Tenn. he either was knocked or fell off the train. He remained until 5 o'clock Friday morning, when he was found and brought to the home of his brother, Bud Young, who lives at Sharon, where he died.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Young who came here over one year ago from Sharon, Tenn. He was 23 years old and unmarried.

JUDGE REED HOLDS ORDINANCES VALID

The City Loses Another Important Case.

Bitulithic Contracts are Thus Declared Legal—An Appeal Granted the City.

THE DECISION WAS EXPECTED

Circuit Judge William Reed this morning filed his opinion in the ex parte suit brought by the city to test the validity of two city ordinances providing for street improvements on Jefferson and Kentucky avenues, and decides the ordinances, valid and consequently the contracts let under the ordinances valid.

The opinion is brief and cites the facts set up in the ex parte petition. The city alleges that the board of works had no power to designate two materials and also had no right to take the work in hand, but the council ratified the action of the board of works and Judge Reed cites two court of appeals decisions in which the exact point has been taken up and decided as he decides it.

The city prayed an appeal to the court of appeals, which was granted. The decision was not unexpected by good lawyers. It was said all along that the council had a right to delegate its authority in selecting street material and other things to the board of public works, as if it did in this case, afterwards ratifying the selection. None of the technicalities on which the city solicitor attempted to nullify the contract amount to anything. It is expected that the case will go to the court of appeals and be affirmed, and that by spring, when the contractors are ready to go to work, all the legal complications will have been disposed of.

FORGOT ORDERS

And as a Result Trains Are Wrecked and Twenty Killed.

Jackson, Tenn., Oct. 24.—A fatal head-on collision occurred on the Illinois Central railroad just north of Middleburg between first 52 north-bound freight, J. A. Cunningham conductor, and H. Scarborough engineer, and second 53, P. Y. Depoyster conductor, and J. R. Moorehead engineer. Engineer Moorehead jumped from his engine and received slight bruises and injuries. Two unknown young men who were stealing a ride on 52 were crushed to death. They were on a car of iron just behind the engine, and the car in the rear of this one was thrown upon the one they were seated upon. They had been here last week to attend the street fair. Three cars were thrown from the track and others damaged, neither engine left the track, but both were damaged. The cause of the wreck was the passing of the station by 53, which had orders to meet 52 at that place.

CRIMINAL BUREAU

May Be Established by the Government.

Washington, Oct. 24.—A special meeting of the board of directors of the National Bureau of Criminal Identification and Association of Police Chiefs will be held in Washington early next month to determine what manner congress will be approached for aid in carrying on the work of making a government bureau for criminal identification. The bureau now is sustained only by the subscription of about 100 cities. Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of the Washington police department, and president of the National Association, is drawing up the measure, which will be taken before congress. Another subject to be taken up is the adoption of the system of identifying criminals by means of thumb impression.

SCOTT'S SIDE.

Says Grundy Rose Drew a Pistol and Beat Him With It.

Ben Scott, who had a difficulty Sunday night with "Grundy" Rose, a Paducah city railway motorman, stated this morning that he was not in the blame; that Rose provoked the assault and struck him twice with a pistol before he retaliated.

Rose claims that Scott struck him with knuckles, while Scott says he never had a pair of knuckles in his life. Scott alleges that Rose had a pistol concealed and pulled it out, striking him several times in the head. He has procured a warrant for carrying concealed weapons against Rose in Justice Young's court and the trial will come up this afternoon.

TEACHER FOUND.

Prof. Rudolph Succeeds Teacher Temporarily—No More "One Session."

Prof. Rudolph, late of the Lone Oak Western Kentucky college, has been secured by the committee to fill out in the Paducah High school building as teacher in the sixth grade. This grade was formerly taught by Miss Barnett, who resigned. Prof. Rudolph was secured until a regular teacher can be found.

Today was a very bad day for school children, but two sessions were held. In fact, it seems to be the inclination of the authorities not to have "one session" any more except when absolutely necessary.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

Shown Naval Officials and Men By People of Tokio.

Tokio, Oct. 24.—Tokio's reception of officers and men of the navy was a most notable affair. Public enthusiasm was unparalleled and as the procession moved from the railway station to Ueno Park, people who crowded the streets rent the air with thunderous cheers. Admiral Togo's carriage was profusely decorated with flowers, and public feeling was next in warmth to that shown the emperor.

FATAL WOUND

Inflicted On an Alleged Robber, Near Wickliffe.

Bud Pullum, a Cairo negro, is lingering between life and death at Wickliffe, Ky. The negro was shot three times Sunday night. Pullum has been at Wickliffe, working for a railroad construction company. It is alleged that the negro attempted to rob a white man. The latter drew his pistol, a 41-caliber Colt's, and shot at the would-be robber three times. Not a bullet missed and the negro is probably fatally wounded.

REJECTED LOVER

Blows Up Home of His Inamorata With Dynamite.

Lynnville, Tenn., Oct. 24.—Because he would not consent to marry him, Austin Patton, colored, is alleged to have attempted to blow up Lou Maxwell, a cook on the place of J. L. Wiggs, shattering her cabin with a dynamite bomb. The explosion awoke all of Lynnville. The woman had risen or she would have been killed. The explosion wrecking the bed. The negro has so far eluded his pursuers.

WHOLE VILLAGE

Threatened By Fire—East Aurora, N. Y., Damaged to Extent of $30,000.

East Aurora, N. Y., Oct. 24.—A fire which started in and destroyed the Warner hotel last night, for a time threatened the entire village. Just as the fire was under control President Fillmore was burned. The loss is about thirty thousand dollars.

French May Furnish Loan.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—A rumor is current that a French financial syndicate is now prepared to negotiate for the proposed loan to Russia at four per cent.

CHANCES ARE SLIM FOR A RESUMPTION

Of Iron Furnaces Here and at Grand Rivers, Ky.

Inspection Party Pays Them Another Visit But Has Nothing to Give Out.

THE ORE IS NOT SUITABLE.

Yesterday another visit was paid the Grand Rivers and Paducah iron furnaces by Vice-President Galtra, of the Tennessee Central and other members of the Simmons firm, of St. Louis, which controls the Grand Rivers furnaces, and talk of a resumption of operation is current. However, nothing definite will be given out by the capitalists who have been making the inspections.

A Sun reporter visited the private car of Vice-President Galtra this morning at the depot just before the official and party left the city, but could secure nothing definite in the way of the plans the capitalists are making.

The capitalists, however, stated that the inspection may mean a great deal and yet it may not. The opening of the Tennessee Central as an auxiliary to the I. C., has some bearing on the matter, but just how much cannot be told.

The capitalists now inspecting these properties own limestone quarries, coal fields from which to get the coal for coking, and much iron land in Wayne county, Tennessee. They have everything necessary to make iron except the furnaces. Their intention is to float the coal, ore and limestone down the rivers, thus cutting down to a minimum one of the principal costs of making iron in this section, that of transportation. Herefore the coke used in making iron here had to be shipped from West Virginia or other places equally as far away.

Vice President Galtra when seen at noon, stated that he had nothing to give out relative to the matter; but everything as far as he had gone, was indefinite. He did say, however, that the chances of resuming operation of the Grand Rivers furnaces were slim.

"We have been inspecting these furnaces," Vice President Galtra explained, "and also investigating into the resources of ore. We do not find the quality of ore suitable to the furnaces. This is very unfavorable to the resumption of operation of the Grand Rivers furnaces. "As far as inspecting the Paducah furnaces is concerned, I will say that we merely found them here and took the opportunity to inspect them. The ore found adjacent to this territory is not suitable to either plant, and a statement that the furnaces are likely to remain idle, will probably not be far from correct."

STARTS FRIDAY

FOR HIS ANNUAL BEAR HUNT, IF NOTHING PREVENTS.

Mr. George Robertson Will Take About Sixty Dogs Along This Time.

Mr. Geo. Robertson, the well-known ice man, expects to start Friday for Arkansas on his annual camping expedition and bear hunt, and will this year carry in the neighborhood of 60 dogs.

"I will have some little trouble in making boat connections," he explained, "and for this reason may be delayed. I will crate my dogs to Arkansas and this will be the biggest part of the trouble. I have a great deal of trouble in getting dogs, but not so much as keeping them. Yesterday a man called on me saying he wanted to look at my collection and see if I had his dog. He picked out the best-looking one in the bunch, a female dog, and stated that she was his. I asked him to show me his tax receipt, but he failed. 'Oh, I paid county taxes on the dog,' he declared. Well, I told him, if you want to take the dog, just take her, but I would advise you to first get a city license and then show me the tax tag. That was the last I heard of him, but several times since I have been collecting dogs for my trip, I have had to give them up."

Mr. Robertson, by the way, is one of the best known sportsmen in this end of the state. He is known as the "King Bee" sport from Western Kentucky, and his hospitality to visitors in Arkansas is widely praised. He gets no one go away hungry and some times has as many as thirty visitors in his camp.

The honesty of lots of men has never been tested.

Mr. Harry Scott, in advance of the
 "As Told in the Hills" company, is at the Palmer today.

Mr. Robert Mahaffey advance man of the "Cousin Kate" company, was formerly a reporter on the Cairo Billetin. He left today after spending Monday in Paducah. Miss Alberta Gallath will present "Cousin Kate"
 at the Kentucky soon.

Miss Olga Nethersole appeared at National theater in Washington last night for the first time in America after an absence of four years. Miss Nethersole was seen in "The Labyrinth," an English adaptation of Paul Hervieu's celebrated Comedie Francaise success, "Le Dedale." Last night's presentation was the first on any stage of the English version.

The Old Lafayette theater, rechristened the Belasco, opened last night in Washington under the new management of David Belasco and the Shuberts. The initial attraction is Blanche Bates in her new play, "The Girl of the Golden West." The acquirement of a playhouse in the national capital marks the end of a long and bitter fight on the part of the theatrical trust to keep Belasco out of Washington.

The theatrical event of the week in New York was the long-looked-for production of Maurice Maeter-linck's famous drama, "Monna Vanna," which had its first presentation at the Manhattan theater last night.

Tuesday, October 31, is the date of the engagement of "The Forbidden Land" in Paducah. The night before they play at Cairo, Ill., which is comforting to know in view of the fact that last year the company undertook to reach here from Springfield, Mo., and their special did not reach here till 8:30 in the evening.
 The curtain did not ring up till 10:30, but ten minutes later, so delighted was the audience, that they immediately forgave the company for keeping them waiting so long,
 and in another ten minutes they had forgotten the delay and were deep in the enjoyment of one of the best shows of the season.

A fairly large crowd witnessed the third presentation of Parsifal at the Kentucky theater last night. Considering the fact that it was the third consecutive performance the audience was satisfactory. The play was fine, as before. Today the company left for Madisonville.

That a scarlet heroine of the Pinero, Henry Arthur Jones or Suderman type is indispensable for a drama which is expected to create a sensation is thoroughly disproved by the varied reception of Hall Caine's
 "The Eternal City," in this country and in London. For his English version the Manx author had his feminine protagonist, Donna Doma Vol-onna, a woman who defied the conventions, just as he portrayed her in the novel on which the drama was founded. But in the play made for America and in which Jane Kennark now is starring, Roma is represented as one upright but badly understood, who in the end is vindicated and finds happiness in the devotion of David Ross, her ardent, young patriotic lover. Miss Kennark, W. Ham Bonney and their associates have been greeted by enthusiastic throngs wherever they have appeared. "The Eternal City," with its complete and beautiful production, will be at The Kentucky tonight.

An entire and complete change of program each year, is the infallible rule with the management of the Great Barlow Minstrels. They will be at The Kentucky on Saturday, matinee and night.

The score of "The Fortune Teller," the comic opera which is to be seen at The Kentucky tomorrow night, was written by Victor Herbert, the composer of many notable successes. Its originality and the quality called "catchy," made "The Fortune Teller" music extremely popular with all lovers of bright harmony, and the excellent comedy in the book commends it to everyone who likes a clean and refreshing performance. A large company, sixty in all, including many well-known favorites, will be seen in the presentation.

ALMOST HUMAN

ARE ELEPHANTS IN THEIR DAI-LY DEPORTMENT.

Not At All Dangerous, But Tender, Sympathetic and Very Useful.

"A bad elephant is a freak and is seldom met with. The big beast is a domestic as a horse, although a little too cumbersome for the same uses.

"When an elephant gets a little cranky there is always some light-headed attendant seems to fly off and say he is crazy. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred the poor elephant has been badly treated, and as he cannot talk he does about the only thing he can do, trumpet his disgust, and maybe eases his feelings by taking a crack with his trunk at some thing within reach."

Such is the cheerful theory set forth by one of the famous Ring-ling's whose world renowned circus is due in this city Thursday, October 26, and who was interviewed by a representative of this paper today.

And he has arguments to back it.
 "Elephants are as kindhearted and tender as women, and respond to little attentions in the same way," explains Mr. Ringling, "and in the same way, just like a woman when they get soured it takes a long while to sweeten them up again, if it can be done at all.

"There are times in the movement of a circus when it would be impossible to get on without the elephant. The big, heavy cages used by Ringling Bros. never could be set in place on time without his powerful aid. Imagine a heavy stake and chain wagon stalled in mud up to the hub, where horses could not budge
 it. Then the trunk and tusks at once become a lever, screwjack, dog hooks and crane. With his aid the wagons are pushed out of their trouble and those that are tipped over are righted, so that work can go on in the necessary quick way of a circus. The elephant's head, protected with a pad is a ram of immense force. These things show that he is a very useful fellow in our world, and not half as bad as many people think.

"When one of them dies, even if it happens in a remote quarter, they seem to know it intuitively and their sorrow is as plain to the eyes as a human being's. At such times their trunks hang limp, their eyes overflow with water and their bodies lose their swinging motion which they seem to be forever enjoying.

"Their fondness for a baby elephant is almost human. The little one owned by Ringling Bros. is a wonderful comfort to the big herd.
 This youngster is now over a year old and is as full of mischief as a young colt. We give him the liberty of the big menagerie tent, because if we didn't he would whine and whimper so as to get the whole elephant family into the dumps."

Ringling Brothers circus carries a herd of forty Asiatic and African elephants and altogether the greatest and most comprehensive animal display ever seen with a tented organization. The circus proper is everywhere referred to as the best ever and affords an opportunity no one can afford to pass by.

MENELIK'S ENVOY
IS NOW IN NEW YORK

Came to Investigate Trade Conditions Here.

At Home He Has About 1,000 Wives and 3,000 Slaves—His People Fond of Dress.

HE IS TO BE HERE SOME TIME.

New York, Oct. 24.—El Haag Abdullah Pacha, envoy from King Menelik of Abyssinia to President Roosevelt; commander in chief of the Abyssinia army; collector general of customs, and owner of all trade concession in Abyssinia, deputed by King Menelik to visit the civilized countries to arrange trade relations with them and perfect commercial treaties, reached New York on the liner Celtic.
 Although he made the voyage to America unattended, at home his wants are attended to by 3,000 servants. Men of his rank take at least 1,000 wives.

"I have been to all the capitals of Europe before I came to America," he said through an interpreter.
 "King Menelik is extremely anxious that his country should progress, and he realizes that it is only through the establishment of extensive trade relations that this can be accomplished.
 "Trade in cotton goods will receive the greater portion of my attention. The people of my country want clothing."

In Abyssinia, it was explained, the natives have an exceeding fondness for dress. While most of them do not boast of a two-piece wardrobe than a breech cloth made of skin or native woven cloth, they will all wear as many articles of apparel as they can get hold of. In the villages men are seen wearing three or four coats, several pairs of trousers and a pyramid of hats on their heads.

El Haag Pacha said that he was the governor of Harar and was the owner of 3,000 slaves. His visit is a matter of great importance to the commerce of America, as he has absolute power to dispose of all of the trade concessions.

The envoy took a ride in Centra park with William H. Ellis. On arriving opposite the statue of Gen.
 Sherman he desired to alight and pray, but was dissuaded. He is stopping at the Besslin.

BOLD THIEVES.

Steal $1100 Worth of Silk and Hold
 Up Watchman With Pistols.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 24.—At the point of two pistols, held by a man and a woman, Private Policeman Johnson was forced to stand idly by and watch his captors make way with silks valued at something more than $1100, which had been taken from a factory located in the heart of the city. The theft is regarded by the local police as the work of professionals.

It is said that during the last 12 months the gang has stolen something like $100,000 worth of silk in numerous other cities. One peculiar fact connected with the operations of the silk thieves is that there is always a woman along when a theft is committed. The one here was evidently a silk expert, for the goods carried away were the very finest in the factory.

The burglars were familiar with the premises. They secured an entrance through a side window, and made for the counter containing the most costly fabrics. These they packed carefully into three bundles,
 the man carrying them to a vehicle in waiting. He was making the last trip and accompanied by the woman, had reached the street. At this moment Private Policeman Johnson turned the corner. Before he had time to make a move the two burglars had him covered with revolvers compelling him to go with them to the waiting vehicle. The woman got in first, her companion following,
 then, giving the whip to the horse;
 they were off, with Johnson in pursuit and firing his revolver as he ran.

In their haste the burglars dropped one package of silk. No trace of them has been discovered.

REPORTED CUTTING.

Graves County Doctors Said to Have Fought.

It was reported here today that Dr. D. P. Stanford, a well known physician of Milburn and another physician, Dr. Lampkins, engaged in a fight this morning at Milburn, says yesterday's Mayfield Messenger.

The difficulty came up over a telephone.

Dr. Lampkins was considerably cut on the right side, below the stomach, by Dr. Stanford.

Both are prominent citizens of Milburn and the affair created quite a good deal of excitement.

Payne's New Discovery

If the stomach and liver are unable to perform their work properly disease follows, which assumes many distressing phases, among these is the appearance of tape-worm, of which a species even infects the liver, causing much anxiety and pain.
 Payne's New Discovery radically removes this evil.

Extracts from a Sensational Letter.

For three years I had been suffering with my stomach and bowels, with a vile taste in my mouth and a coated tongue; the sight of food made me sick, although I was often ravenously hungry. Taking seven doses from one bottle of PAYNE'S New Discovery a tape-worm eight feet long passed from my system. Immediate relief followed. Bloating and dizziness ceased, appetite returned and I am now strong and hearty.

Time for Toppers

"Overcoats" is not the term for these jaunty garments. It gives no suggestion of their snappy style and elegance. We have them in all the favored fabrics and modish cuts. Our top coat are made by expert tailors. Even the man who sews on buttons is an expert in his line; the one who shapes
 the collar another expert—ALL EXPERTS.

And the long coats. Many men prefer the long, gracefully-draped lines of the Cravanette, with its air of quiet goods taste. We mean "CRAVA-NETTE," too, for we are exclusive agents in Padu-

SHALL THE SECRET BALLOT BE ABOLISHED?

The Proposed Amendment.

"Section 147. The General Assembly shall provide, by law for the registration of all persons entitled to vote in cities and towns having a population of 5,000 or more, and may provide by general law for the registration of other voters in the state. Where registration is required, only persons registered shall have the right to vote. The mode of registration shall be prescribed by the General Assembly, in all elections by persons in a representative capacity, the voting shall be viva voce and made a matter of record; and all elections by the people shall also be viva voce and made a matter of public record by the officers of election, according to the direction of the voter. The word 'election' in this section includes the decision of questions submitted to voters, as well as the choice of officers by them. The first General Assembly held after the adoption of this amendment shall pass all necessary laws to enforce this provision."

Mr. Bryan Opposes.

In 1896 Mr. W. J. Bryan delivered an address on Labor Day in the city of Chicago. In the course of that address he said:

"The ballot is the weapon by which the people of this country must right a legislative wrong. Whenever they lack intelligence and patriotism to right their wrongs at the ballot box they will be unable to right them in any other way.

"The ballot, to be effective, must be used, and conditions arose in this country which made it impossible for all the people to use the ballot which they had. Because of the circumstances which surrounded them,
 many men were afraid to exercise
 the political rights given to them under our institutions.

"What did they do? They demanded a reform in the ballot laws. I honor the laboring men of this country and the labor organizations which stand at the head of the wage-earning classes because they secured the Australian ballot for themselves and for the people at large.

"The ballot law did not come to the laboring men from the capitalistic classes. It came as a result of their own demands. The laboring men today enjoying the advantages of the Australian ballot because they compelled its adoption."

METROPOLIS NEWS

THE KEY CITY IS NOW PRACTICALLY COMPLETE.

Metropolis "Blues" Disband After a Successful Season—Football Games Begin.

Metropolis, Ill., Oct. 24.—The Key City, a towboat belonging to H. Rampendahl and Co., which was sunk several months ago, is now completed and will be launched in the next day or two. She has undergone a thorough overhauling and is in as nearly perfect condition as when new.

The Metropolis Blues have disbanded for the season after a remarkable record consisting of 26 games played of which they won 21. Dye, the team's star pitcher, occupied the box in 18 games and lost only two. Manager Compton reports the financial part of the season satisfactory and declares his intention to reorganize even a stronger team next season.

The M. H. S. football team met and defeated the Marion High school team in a splendid and spirited game Saturday, the score being 7 to 0 in favor of Metropolis. The home boys declare it their intention to emulate the Blues and defeat every team they play. Especially do they desire a contest with Paducah.

Councilman T. S. Stone celebrated his seventieth birthday Monday. Esquire Wm. Wright and wife are home from Chicago where they spent a couple of weeks with their son.

Mrs. Laura Neftzger-Thompson, of Union City, Tenn., is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Clayburn Howard.

A pleasing coincidence occurred on Sunday last when Geo. Corlis, of St. Louis, and his brother Scott, of New York met on an incoming train on their way for a visit to home folks. Geo. Corlis is an attorney in St. Louis while Scott is secretary of the Young People's Missionary movement in the city of New York.

Mrs. Pal Steele came home Saturday from Vienna bringing her son Marshall who has been very sick.

Pete Munal, a younger brother of Charley Munal's, came from Murphysboro Sunday to work in the Corlis factory.

Farley Owens and wife have returned to Dyersburg, Tenn., after a visit with Clay Smith and wife of East Metropolis.

Will Cagle of Carterville, spent Sunday in town with his wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Hillebrand who is again some better after a serious relapse.

Mrs. Jack Young has returned to Chicago after visiting relatives here. Ernest Copeland, cashier of Golconda national bank, spent Sunday in town.

W. L. Graham and wife are removing this week to Memphis, Tenn. their former home. Metropolis sees them go regretfully as they are very highly esteemed among their acquaintances.

Mrs. M. J. Crow, of Paducah, mother-in-law of Chief of Police Munal, is visiting Mr. Munal's family this week.

STRAW STACK MYSTERY.

A Man at Kuttawa Claims He Knows Something About Mayfield Murder.

Mayfield, Ky., Oct. 24.—The latest report is that there will be startling developments in the straw stack murder case before many days.

Sunday night the officer at Kuttawa telephoned to Chief McNutt that a man in that town had manifested his desire to give out some valuable information about Mayfield's most mysterious murder and Chief McNutt told the officer to question the man and find out what he knew. The man desirous of telling something of the murder was in Mayfield at the time and is supposed to know more than has ever been told. The chief will look into the matter at once.

GEORGE B. WARNER
DID NOT ACT CRAZYHis Escape From Hopkinsville
Asylum Was Not Unexpected.There Was Never Much Stock Taken in the Claim That He Was Crazy.

CAN HE NOW BE EXTRADITED?

The escape of George B. Warner, slayer of Pulaski Leeds, master mechanic of the L. & N. at Louisville, from the Hopkinsville asylum night before last, has attracted widespread attention throughout the state, and an interesting question in connection with this being at large is whether or not he could be extradited if found outside of the state.

The Hopkinsville New Era says of Warner's escape:

Since his arrival here Warner had shown no sign of being crazy, but he was made the object of special care and was assigned to the violent ward, with extra precautions to prevent him from escaping and to guard against suicide. Notwithstanding that, his condition bore no evidence of insanity, attention was not relaxed and he was confined in a room to himself in the third flat, high above the ground and securely screened, and it was believed that he had no avenue of escape.

Sunday night, after 9:30 o'clock, when the night watch went on duty Warner succeeded in removing an iron plate over the lock on the door of his room and picked the lock. Being an expert machinist he had evidently carefully studied the mechanism of the lock and when the opportunity was presented, was able to force the door.

The night watch passes through the halls every hour of the night, and it was while the guard was in another part of the building that Warner slipped out. Putting on his clothes which were hanging on the outside of his door, Warner craftily placed another patient's clothes on the hook from which he had taken his in order to further deceive the watchman. In some manner unknown, using probably the same instrument with which he picked his ward door, Warner opened the door to the hall and thence escaped through the basement of the institution. A guard patrols the outside of the buildings, but Warner was able to leave the grounds without being noticed. His escape was discovered at 4:45 this morning and a search for him was immediately instituted, but he had not left a clue behind. By telephone and telegraph the police of every town for a hundred miles around were notified, and the asylum officials believe that it is only a question of time when the missing man will be captured.

Warner was in splendid physical condition and being a man of powerful physique would prove very dangerous if he were disposed to show fight. Lately Warner has persistently sought to be granted outside privileges, and specially desired to be given work in the engine rooms, but Dr. Board had refused his requests, fearing he might escape. Warner had insisted that he was satisfied with conditions at the institution and that if he wanted to escape no cell could hold him. He spent much time out of doors, but always under guard. Warner, while at the institution never hesitated to talk to any one interested about the killing of Leeds. He conversed in a perfectly rational manner and was glad to recount his alleged wrongs which caused him to murder the railroad man. He claimed that he was justified in shooting Mr. Leeds and that the jury wrongfully sentenced him to death.

Yesterday's Louisville Post said: The question as to whether or not Warner can be extradited and brought back to Kentucky, if he had crossed the state line, is one which is perplexing those interested in the case.

Many years ago, when Col. Tom Buford, of Woodford county, shot and killed Judge Elliott, of the superior court, and escaped capital punishment on the plea of insanity, he escaped from the Lakeland asylum and went to New Albany. Here he boldly faced his pursuers with the calm announcement that while he might be insane, he was sane enough to know that he could not be extradited for lunacy.

The case was tried out in the courts, and it was held that although

Col. Buford was just across the river and within a short distance of Louisville, he could not be brought back and he remained on the Indiana shore until he died.

That precedent settles the case so far as lunacy is concerned, but on the other hand, Warner had been convicted of murder before he was adjudged insane, and the verdict of the sheriff's jury was that he had become insane, and that the execution of death should not therefore be carried out. Since this is true, Judge Pryor, Commonwealth's Attorney Huffer and others questioned, agreed in the off-hand opinion, though they all said they had not yet looked into the matter, that Warner can be extradited, if captured, for murder, and conviction.

APPEAL TO GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

The Louisville Herald sounds the key note of good municipal government in the following, which applies as well to Paducah and McCracken county:

"Loyalty to party like loyalty to friends and loyalty to country, is commendable so long as it is not perverted to unworthy and untenable extremes. If ever time was when partisanship ought not to govern the action of Louisville's citizens, that time is now. In the election of a city and county ticket business consideration should prevail. The management of the business interests of the joint stock concern known as the county of Jefferson, and of that other business corporation known as the city of Louisville, is a work of business methods exclusively. All citizens—democrats as well as republicans, populists as well as socialists, men of every class and creed and color—are interested in having that corporate business done properly. The city of Louisville is interested in the extent of his investments; the citizens of smaller means to the extent of his labor's value, and every man, irrespective of accumulated wealth, to the extent of his children's welfare and his freetime's happiness."

PENALTY ON COUNTY TAXES.

It has been repeatedly stated in local papers for several weeks that the sheriff was going to put the penalty on county taxes at such and such a time. First it was October 1st, and now it is November 1st. It is not known who is responsible for these publications or what is their object, but the only reference we can find to putting the penalty on county taxes is in section 4143, Kentucky Statutes, which says in part: "Any person or persons failing to pay their taxes by the first day of December in the year following the assessment for such taxes, shall pay six per cent. additional on the tax due and unpaid." Judging from this the sheriff cannot put the penalty on county taxes until December 1st, and if he does not know it, we politely call his attention to it.

The inter-state commerce commission, in preparing its reports on railroad accidents, omits a very important and necessary feature. It fails to show how many trains were run. In all avocations, in order to fully understand the danger, it is necessary to know the chances. This is not shown in reports on railroad casualties. We are told that so many people were hurt and so many killed but are not told what proportion this is to the total number of trains run, people carried, or speed attained. A person might look at the railroad and steamboat reports and say "there's 100 or 1,000 or whatever it might happen to be, times more people killed by railroads than by steamboats. A steamboat is safest." It is forgotten that perhaps 1,000 or more trains are run to every one boat, and that the trains take a person many times faster over the earth's surface than a boat. If everything were figured out on a proportionate and equitable basis, it would probably be shown that railroads do not kill or injure any more people, relatively speaking, than steamboats.

Democratic organs allude to the Philadelphia ring as "republicans." The men in the clique are not republicans, but grafters pure and simple. They have no politics, and are repudiated by all parties.

Col. Henry Watterson has become such an admirer of President Roosevelt that it is by no means impossible that in time he may become a full-fledged republican. Here's hoping!

Judging from the Louisville machine organs Mr. Barth is entirely too good to be mayor. They should provide him with a halo and keep him in glass case.

They are saying that President McCurdy has not told all he knows. Perhaps it's best. The public has already had about as much as it can stand.

The way the McCurdys, big, little and otherwise, were lined up at the pie counter reminds us of the city administration in Paducah.

Europe now threatens to drive out the Turk. The Turk's side of the story is yet to be heard.

WHY DOES

A BABY CRY?

Because it is either hungry or in pain. Properly nourished it will usually grow up right and be comfortable—that's the principal thing for a baby. If its food lacks strength and nourishment add Scott's Emulsion at feeding time. A few drops will show surprising results. If a baby is plump it is reasonably safe. Scott's Emulsion makes babies plump.

Named Pall Bearers, Suicided.

Cynthiana, Ky., Oct. 24.—S. J. Brunner, a merchant at Sylvandell, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. Brunner's mind was deranged and this is the second attempt he had made in the past month. Must File Schedule.

Attorney E. W. Bagby, referee in bankruptcy, this morning made an order in the bankrupt matter of Henry B. Grace.

Grace and T. O. Fisher were in the cigar business as partners but Fisher retired and turned over his part of the assets of the firm to Grace, taking a mortgage on the stock, which was appraised at about $1,000. Grace made an assignment in county court and the assignee sold the stock to T. O. Fisher the former partner.

This was prior to the act of bankruptcy on the part of Grace, and the creditors of the bankrupt made a motion to have the stock, the assets of the business, turned over to Trustee Aubrey. The exceptions made by Fisher to this motion were heard and Referee Bagby overruled them and made an order in the case directing Fisher to appear on the 30th of this month and turn a schedule of the assets over to the trustee for the benefit of the creditors.

IN THE COURTS

A jury in the McCracken circuit court established a precedent yesterday afternoon which will prove of interest to newspapers all over a state where the libel laws are so strict. It was in the suit of Roland Duncan, a barber, against the News-Democrat for alleged libel. The paper sometime ago, in federal court proceedings, inadvertently used the name of the plaintiff in connection with a passing counterfeit money charge instead of H. B. Duncan, his uncle. The plaintiff sued for $5,000 damages, and the newspaper made no defense except that it was an error and was quickly corrected the following day. The jury was instructed to award damages if it thought Duncan was entitled to any, and after being out for a few minutes, returned a verdict for the paper.

The case of Jennie Lytton against the Paducah City Railway company was dismissed.

A judgment for divorce was filed in the case of Rosa against Henry A. Mundi.

The case of F. G. Rudolph, administrator of O. C. Boyd against the Prudential Life Insurance company and Dora Edwards was tried but no opinion filed. The suit is on a policy and claims of the latter defendant for services.

In the case of J. M. Luttrell against the East Tennessee Telephone a judgment for a little more than $500, the amount sued for, was filed for the plaintiff.

Valuable Watch Still Missing.

Mr. John Theobald, the butcher, is mourning the loss of a watch he had had since before he married. Several days ago he left his vest hanging near the door to his stall at the market house. His watch, Elks pin and other valuables were in the pockets and while he was working with his back to the door the vest was taken from the hook. He thought at first that it was a joke, but is now confident that he was the victim of a thief. He valued the watch very highly because of its associations.

across the river. Not much is known of Free at present. His son died about a month ago, and instead of burying it in some cemetery at least temporarily he kept the body at his boat. Complaints were made to the police but they did not consider it a case for them and it was finally reported to Coroner Crow.

Coroner Crow made a visit to the boat, according to his statement, and found no one at home, but claims he found the body in a box in one room of the boat, and that it was in a bad state of preservation. He claims that people residing near by told him that Free threatened to shoot anyone who attempted to interfere. County Judge Lightfoot made an effort to have the body seized and decently buried but Coroner Crow did not care to tackle the job by himself. He consequently abandoned it, and Free, learning of the public indignation in regard to the reports, came to the city and denied them, and said that he was keeping the body until he got enough money to take it to Alabama for burial. He claims to have authority from Illinois officials to keep the body, but he is in Kentucky jurisdiction unless he has moved his boat since the coroner paid him a visit.

The Sun's article was published on the authority of Coroner Crow, who says that he does not know what has been done since to the body, but that he will go on the witness stand and swear that things were just as he reported them at the time he was there.

 Money in Timber Lands.
 Fortunes have been made, and can easily be made today, by buying Arkansas rich river bottom land, heavily covered with timber, at a nominal price, holding the land for a few years and then selling the timber at twice the price the land and timber both cost, and then have the land cleared and sell it for five times the original purchase price and sometimes ten times the cost. We have a proposition of this kind in 1600 acres of land in Arkansas at only $3.50 per acre. One-third cash, balance 1 and 2 years, at 6 per cent. This land when cleared will rent for $5.50 per acre per year. Full particulars on request. Edgar W. Whittemore Real Estate Agency, Fraternity Building. Both phones 835.

Is absorbed almost instantly by the skin and loosens up the dirt and foreign matter which fills up the pores of the skin, producing blackheads and eventually troublesome pimples. The astrigent properties of the alkali in most soaps has a tendency to draw the skin and close up the pores, thus instead of filling its office as a cleansing agent it interferes with nature's process of throwing off the impurities from the body. CONCRETE CULVERT TO BE CONSIDERED

Expected That Bids for Caldwell Street Culvert Will Be In.

Thomas Bridges is Expected From Florida to Sign Contract For Jefferson Street Work.

VERY MUCH DELAY ON THIRD.

The board of public works will meet tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of letting a contract for the building of a concrete culvert on Caldwell street. The bids for this job were rejected at the last meeting of the board and ordered to be advertised again.

Thomas Bridges, of the firm of Bridges Sons, of Wabash, Ind., which secured the contract for building the pavements, gutters and curbs on West Jefferson street from 14th to 25th street, is expected in the city tomorrow to sign the contract for the job. He is at present in Florida but is supposed to be en route here now. The original contract was let to Les and Everrood, of Columbus, Ind., but on account of the short time to complete the job, they refused to sign the contract and Bridges Sons took it up at the former's bid.

The board will probably take some action in the matter of securing brick for the Third street improvement. Only one car load at the time is arriving and the work is being delayed on this account. It is stated by attaches of the city engineering department that the work on the street can be completed within three days if the brick all come, but as it is, will probably take two weeks longer unless the Evansville company furnishing the brick get a move on and ship large consignments.

The board will also tomorrow transact the regular routine business, hear reports from the street department and other departments under its jurisdiction.

The board of works will hereafter for some little time be composed of two members. Tonight Mr. Ed. P. Noble, the president, leaves, and about the time he returns from his bridal trip Secretary S. A. Fowler will leave on his honeymoon.

One of His Liabilities.

During a recent financial panic a certain city magnate, like many others, found one night that his real estate was unsalable, his firm bankrupt and his money locked up in a suspended bank.

In deepest despondency he walked slowly home and greeted the companion of his joys and sorrows. "Mary," he said, "I'm ruined. So's the bank. So's the firm. I've lost my money and my house and everything—everything."

"No, no, John," cried the loving wife as she cast herself upon his breast, "not everything. You haven't lost me." "That's so, Mary," replied the unfeeling brute; "that's so. I never supposed that any of the liabilities would disappear."—London Times.

How Disraeli Dissembled.

Here is a story of Disraeli, the authority quoted for it in the diary of Sir M. E. Grant Duff being Sir Thomas Sanderson:

A famous diplomatist once went to see Lord Beaconsfield, conversed with him and found him very agreeable. Soon after the waiter who had shown him up came and asked him for a present.

"But why?" "Don't you remember?" was the answer. "I showed you up to Lord Beaconsfield."

"What of that?" said the other. "Oh, sir, after you had gone he did swear at me uncommon for telling you he was at home."

Schedules Were Resumed.

Effective yesterday Illinois Central trains Nos. 5 and 6 and 23 and 24 were resumed between Water Valley and New Orleans. The schedules are on the Fulton-Grenada branch and when the quarantine was first put on these trains were cut off at Water Valley and later at Jackson. When the quarantine was raised the schedules were resumed in reverse order.

Very Unpleasant Weather.

This has been a very dreary day, a drizzling rain fell all night and has continued during the day with the prediction that there will be more tomorrow. The atmosphere is chilly and it is unpleasant to be outside of the house.

LIQUID VENEER MAKES OLD THINGS NEW

Liquid Veneer is a wonder! It will make the whole interior of your house shine like new, making re-finishing or re-varnishing entirely unnecessary. It is not a varnish, but a surface food and cleaner, building up the original finish and making it brighter than ever. It is applied with a piece of cheese cloth and no experience is necessary. No drying to wait for. Removes all scratches, stains, dirt, dullness. It can be applied to any finish with beneficial results. Natural wood, as well as any color of paint, will be better for an application of Liquid Veneer.

Liquid Veneer will improve even the most beautiful furniture. It will take that smoky look from the Piano and other Mahogany, and is highly beneficial to Golden Oak, White Enamel, Gilt, Silver and other finishes.

Liquid Veneer sells at 50 cents a bottle, and a bottle is enough to renovate the ordinary home. Try it and you will always buy it.

FULTON MAN ROBBED.

Knocked in the Head and Pockets Rifled.

Fulton, Ky., Oct. 24.—G. H. Bransford, one of Fulton's most prominent citizens, was waylaid, knocked in the head and robbed in the back yard of his home in East Fulton and left unconscious from a terrible wound which his assailant inflicted upon the back of his head with a brick.

Mr. Bransford was just returning from feeding pigs and was but a few steps from his back porch when he was struck down by the miscreant and his pockets rifled of all their contents. It was not until thirty minutes later that an old negro man, who does chores on the place, was passing through the yard and stumbled upon the prostrate form of his employer. After being removed to the house, physicians were sent for and upon examination pronounced the wounded man badly hurt, but not enough to cause great alarm. Mr. Bransford is resting better. He had only a few dollars in his pockets at the time of the robbery.

MUCH GOOD WILL

COME TO PADUCAH

From the I. C. Acquisition of the Tennessee Central.

Business Will Greatly Increase All Along the Line of the Illinois Central.

LOCAL SHOP IMPROVEMENTS.

"The fact that President Fish, of the I. C., has announced through the Nashville press that he expected the I. C. to spend a million or two in road improvements in that section, since the leasing of the Tennessee Central means a great deal to this section, and will have a beneficial effect on Paducah," a well-known local official stated this morning.

"The business on the Paducah and Louisville districts of the road has increased wonderfully in the past several years, as has the amount of work in the local shops. The local shops, compared with the big Burnside, Chicago, shops, turn out about 33 per cent. This is a big figure in repair work. The maximum output of the Burnside shops is 30 engines a week and of the Paducah shops 10. The Waterloo, Iowa shops turn out about 8 in comparison, so you can readily see what the Paducah shops are doing. This summer a consignment of $10,000 worth of new machines was ordered for these shops and three have arrived. The other five will come in a few weeks, we hope.

"The shops need improvements from time to time, and on account of the importance they bear, the higher officials do not hesitate in ordering the desired improvements." This week the bids will be opened for an improvement to the freight shops. The freight shops have not sufficient lighting facilities and will be improved by sky lights the entire length of both buildings. Davis Bros. and Fowler-Wolff are local bidders and yesterday made an inspection of the shops to make figures. Railroadings in this section has improved wonderfully, and it is said that because of the advantage gained in many ways, the Tennessee Central was built, and leased by the I. C. The latter road will be able to now invade new territory and to handle freight in a more direct way to many points.

RELIGIOUS CENSUS

Will Be Started in Paducah—To Be Paducah's Second.

A meeting will be held in the lecture room of the First Baptist church tonight at 7:30 o'clock of the workers who will assist in the religious census of the city on next Saturday. It is important that all be present as the districts will be arranged and assigned. The entire work is under the charge of the Rev. John S. Cheek of the First Baptist church, but each church will furnish so many workers to assist in the house-to-house canvass. It is an interdenominational affair and will help all the churches alike.

This canvass was made in Paducah some years ago when Prof. E. A. Fox now general secretary for the Kentucky Sunday school work, was at the head of the Paducah Sunday school Union. Under Mr. Fox's able lead it was well carried out and was a help to the churches. It will be interesting to compare the figures of that canvass with this.

GOES TO KANSAS.

Mr. George Beyer Will Locate Near Topeka.

Mr. George Beyer, an employee of the local I. C. woodworking shops, will shortly remove to Kansas to reside.

He has bought a farm near Topeka, and will move his family there as soon as he can dispose of his property here. Mr. Beyer resides at 710 Jones street, and has been a resident of the city for many years. He intended getting off this week, but will probably be delayed several days longer.

Industrial Opportunities.

There are hundreds of splendid openings for manufacturers, jobbers and retail dealers in territory reached by the North Western line.

This folder contains a full description of several important extensions of the North Western line that open some of the finest territory in the west. Free on application to N. M. BREEZE, General Agent, 436 Walnut St., Cincinnati, O.

Ordered New Books.

The Carnegie library board yesterday afternoon held a meeting and decided to order at present only fiction and juvenile books, and the contract to furnish them was awarded to the McClurg company.

A DisgruntledVeteran

(Original.)

In the spring of 1861 I marched away with the boys in blue. No one who has been born since those stormy days can realize the enthusiasm, the patriotism, the war spirit, that pervaded all classes. When a regiment departed for the front the streets were lined with people, the windows were filled with women waving adieus and huzzas rolled on with the tramping men like ocean billows following a ship.

Nevertheless these acclamations had little effect to rouse me from a certain melancholy. I realized that when I got into camp at the front they would be replaced by the wind and rain, the bullet, shot and shell and, worse than all these, disease. Besides I was parting from Ruth Halliwell, whom I had long unsuccessfully courted, but who, seeing me an embryo soldier, had given way to the enthusiasm of the moment and promised that when I returned a hero she would bestow her hand on me.

Well, I found the condition at the front as I had expected. We were not even near the first great battlefield, Bull Run. At the time it was fought we were lying in camp, becoming very tired of our occupation. Then we engaged in a number of petty skirmishes, in some of which a very large proportion of the force engaged were killed, but they made no stir among our friends at the north, for they were not battles. I got sick and spent weeks in hospital. I recovered and was shot while on picket and nursed my wound for three months in hospital. Indeed, during the whole war I escaped every one of the great battles, fighting constantly in small affairs, in many of which there was less chance of my escaping alive than in a battle. I was wounded seven times, had every fever known in the south, including the dreaded yellow fever, and at last was discharged because the government did not think it would pay to try to get me well enough to fight again. But this was only a few months before the close of the war.

I expected to be received in the north with the same enthusiasm as when I had left. Instead I found that discharged soldiers had been coming from the front for four years and were an old story. Indeed, bounty jumping had become so common that some persons looked at me askance, wondering if I were not in that line. When I got near enough to my home to meet friends they began at once to ask me to tell my experiences, or, rather, to ask me what great battles I had participated in. I was obliged to reply, "None." The look of disappointment on their faces pierced me like a bayonet.

"What! In no battle at all?" was the universal exclamation. "Not a battle, but I was in hundreds of big fights and skirmishes, was often wounded, had innumerable diseases and after one campaign came very near dying from the exposure I had suffered."

This enumeration of hardships produced no effect whatever. For any credit I got for it I might as well have stayed at home. When I reached home I walked up the street, mentally picturing the scene I had witnessed at my departure. Now every one was busy with the ordinary affairs of life. I would not have known the country was at war. When I met friends I met the same old question, "What battles were you in?" I was obliged to make the negative reply, always calling forth an expression which seemed to say, "You're no soldier; you've doubtless been all the while with the provost guard at Washington." Then they would turn to discuss a horse race or a baseball game with great gusto.

But the cruellest blow was to find that "the girl I left behind me" had given herself to another. She had been more patriotic than the most of them and had chosen a soldier. She had waited in vain to hear of my distinguishing myself in some great battle and had at last given me up as a very commonplace soldier. Then came a man who had entered the army in January, 1862, been in the reserves at Shiloh and had resigned to go home and run for the legislature. This rising young man had supplanted me, and the wedding had taken place a few weeks prior to my return.

It is now forty years since that return, and I have lived those forty years without exciting the slightest enthusiasm as a soldier. I have answered thousands of questions as to what battles I fought in and on my reply have received the same expression of disappointment. But I have been somewhat mollified as to my own case, for, though my best friend died in the war of camp fever, I find that even he is not considered to have been of any especial service to his country or at least to have done anything heroic.

More than this, in these later days I have discovered that no man can have been one of the heroes of the war to the mass of unwarlike people who has not participated in the one battle that is now considered the decisive engagement of the war—Gettysburg. No one on learning that I am a veteran now asks me what battle I participated in but whether I was at the battle of Gettysburg. I once replied that I was not, but, to try the effect, said I was at all the other great battles of the war. The result was the same. There was the inevitable disappointment. Not to have been at Gettysburg was not to have been in the civil war.

If there is already no remembered battle of that war save Gettysburg, will not the day come when there will be only one hero—Grant?

A JUBILEE PRESENT

No. 8 of the Series

It is none of my business to describe the so called room of gold, with which I, for one, was not a little disappointed. The glass cases which both fill and line it may contain unique examples of the goldsmith's art in times and places of which one heard quite enough in the course of one's classical education, but from a professional point of view I would as lief have the ransacking of a single window in the west end as the pick of all those spoils of Etruria and of ancient Greece. The gold may not be so soft as it appears, but it certainly looks as though you could bite off the business ends of the spoons and stop your own teeth in doing so. Nor should I care to be seen wearing one of the rings. But the greatest fraud of all (from the aforesaid standpoint) is assuredly that very cup of which Raffles had spoken. Moreover, he felt this himself.

"Why, it's as thin as paper," said he, "and enameled like a middle aged lady of quality! But, by Jove, it's one of the most beautiful things I ever saw in my life, Bunny. I should like to have it for its own sake, by all my gods!"

The thing had a little square case of plate glass all to itself at one end of the room. It may have been the thing of beauty that Raffles affected to consider it, but I, for my part, was in no mood to look at it in that light. Underneath were the names of the pinto-cats who had subscribed for this national gogaw, and I felt to wonder where their 28,000 came in, while Raffles devoured his twopenny guidebook.

"Those are scenes from the martyrdom of St. Agnes," said he, "translucent on relief. One of the finest specimens of its kind. I should think it was! Bunny, you Philistine, why can't you admire the thing for its own sake? It would be worth having to live up to! There never was such rich enameled on such thin gold and what a good scheme to hang the it up over it, so that you can see how thin it is! I wonder if we could lift it, Bunny, by hook or crook?"

"You'd better try, sir," said a dry voice at his elbow.

The madman seemed to think we had the room to ourselves. I knew better, but like another madman, had let him ramble on unchecked. And here was a stolid constable confronting us in the short tunic that they wear in summer, his whistle on his chain, but no truncheon at his side. Heavens, how I see him now—a man of medium size, with a broad, good humored, perspiring face and a limp mustache. He looked sternly at Raffles, and Raffles looked merrily at him.

"Going to run me in, officer?" said he. "That would be a joke—my hat!"

"I didn't say as I was, sir," replied the policeman. "But that's queer talk for a gentleman like you, sir, in the British museum." And he wagged his helmet at my invalid, who had taken his airing in frock coat and top hat, the more readily to assume his present part.

"What," cried Raffles, "simply saying to my friend that I'd like to lift the gold cup? Why, so I should, officer, so I should! I don't mind who hears me say so. It's one of the most beautiful things I ever saw in all my life."

The constable's face had already relaxed, and now a grin peeped under the limp mustache. "I dare say there's many as feels like that, sir," said he.

"Exactly, and I say what I feel, that's all," said Raffles airily. "But seriously, officer, is a valuable thing like this quite safe in a case like that?"

"Safe enough as long as I'm here," replied the other between grim jest and stout earnest. Raffles studied his face. He was still watching Raffles, and I kept an eye on them both without putting in my word.

"You appear to be single handed," observed Raffles. "Is that wise?"

The note of anxiety was capitally caught. It was at once personal and public spirited—that of an enthusiastic savant, afraid for a national treasure which few appreciated as he did himself. And, to be sure, the three of us now had this treasure to ourselves. One or two others had been there when we entered, but now they were gone.

"I'm not single handed," said the officer comfortably. "See that seat by the door? One of the attendants sits there all day long."

"Then where is he now?"

"Talking to another attendant just outside. If you listen you'll hear them for yourself."

We listened and we did hear them, but not just outside. In my own mind I even questioned whether they were in the corridor through which we had come. To me it sounded as though they were just outside the corridor.

"You mean the fellow with the billiard cue who was here when we came in?" pursued Raffles.

"That wasn't a billiard cue. It was a pointer," the intelligent officer explained.

"It ought to be a javelin," said Raffles nervously. "It ought to be a pole-axe! The public treasure ought to be better guarded than this. I shall write to the Times about it. You see if I don't!"

All at once, yet somehow not so suddenly as to excite suspicion, Raffles had become the elderly busybody with nerves. Why I could not for the life of me imagine, and the policeman seemed equally at sea.

"For bless you, sir," said he, "I'm all right. Don't you bother your head about me."

"But you haven't even got a truncheon!"

"Not likely to want one either. You see, sir, it's early as yet. In a few minutes these here rooms will fill up, and there's safety in numbers, as they say."

"Oh, it will fill up soon, will it?"

"Any minute now, sir."

"Ah!"

"It isn't often empty as long as this, sir. It's the jubilee, I suppose."

"Meanwhile what if my friend and I had been professional thieves? Why, we could have overpowered you in an instant, my good fellow!"

"That you couldn't; leastways not without bringing the whole place about your ears!"

"Well, I shall write to the Times all the same. I'm a connoisseur in all this sort of thing, and I won't have unnecessary risks run with the nation's property. You said there was an attendant just outside, but he sounds to me as though he were at the other end of the corridor. I shall write today!"

For an instant we all three listened.

and Raffles was right. Then I saw two things in one glance. Raffles had stopped a few inches backward and stood poised upon the ball of each foot, his arms half raised, a light in his eyes, and another kind of light was breaking over the crass features of our friend the constable.

"Then shall I tell you what I'll do?" he cried, with a sudden clutch at the whistle chain on his chest. The whistle flew out, but it never reached his lips. There were a couple of sharp snatches like double barrels discharged all but simultaneously, and the man reeled against me so that I could not help catching him as he fell.

"Well done, Bunny! I've knocked him out! I've knocked him out! Run

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. G. C. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

UNION CITY NEGRO

Sues for Breaking Up His Business and Is Then Jailed.

Jackson, Tenn., October 24.—Abe Walker, colored, of Union City, brought suit for $25,000 against J. C. Budick, W. L. White, W. G. Reynolds, S. D. Woosley and Ed Kirkland for destroying his business and driving him out of town. Walker had long been a violator of the Adams law, and in a raid on an adjoining joint three policemen were shot and slightly wounded, which incensed the people, and Walker's joint and several others near by were wrecked and Walker fled the town. He came to Jackson yesterday to prosecute the case, and was at once arrested by a deputy sheriff of Obion county and taken to Union City and lodged in jail to answer several charges and indictments.

Saved His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors and they told me one of my lungs was badly affected. I also had a lump on my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty cent bottles cured me sound and well."

It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity. Sold by Alvey & List.

The Best Doctor.

Rev. B. C. Horton, Sulphur Springs, Tex., writes, July 19, 1902: "I have used in my family Ballard's Snow Liniment and Horehound Syrup, and they have proved certainly satisfactory. The liniment is the best we have ever used for headache and pains. The cough syrup has been our doctor for the last eight years."
